Hello there,

My name is Samuel Ertischek and I'm applying to Code Foo for a position as a Engineer Intern. I'm currently a Junior in Computer Science at Montana State University.

As for my connection to IGN, I've been interested in video games ever since I was young and fell in love with them completely during my elementary school days when I first saw my friend's brother playing Minecraft. Ever since then I've known that I wanted to stay with and work around video games and through that I also fell in love with coding and programming. As a part of pursuing my passions for video games and coding, I've followed news and searched for information about various video games and thus have gone to IGN countless times throughout the years, whether on YouTube or the IGN website, to find news about the latest releases or guides on unlocking achievements. IGN is one of the top video game news sites and when I think of finding information about a video game I think of IGN.

As for qualifications, I've taken various programming classes at Montana State University with languages such as Java, Python, C, C++, Kotlin, HTML, and PHP. I have also gained programming experience at previous internships as a Software Engineer Intern at OpenSesame and BlueVolt. I believe that I have the experience and knowledge to succeed in this position and I know that I will be able to learn a lot and gain further experience if I'm accepted.

Thank you for your time,

Samuel Ertischek
